DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings have been accepted by an official draftsman.

Arrangement of the Specification

1. With the passage of the American Inventors' Protection Act, Applicants' attention is drawn to 37 CFR 1.163(c)-(d) which is reproduced below:

37 CFR 1.163. Specification and arrangement of application elements in a plant application.

(c) The specification should include the following sections in order:

- (1) Title of the invention, which may include an introductory portion stating the name, citizenship, and residence of the applicant.
- (2) Cross-reference to related applications (unless included in the application data sheet).
- (3) Statement regarding federally sponsored research or development.
- (4) Latin name of the genus and species of the plant claimed.
- (5) Variety denomination.
- (6) Background of the invention.

(7) Brief summary of the invention.

(8) Brief description of the drawing.

(9) Detailed botanical description.

(10) A single claim.

(11) Abstract of the disclosure.

(d) The text of the specification or sections defined in paragraph (c) of this section, if applicable, should be preceded by a section heading in upper case, without underlining or bold type.

Applicant's attention is directed to sections (4) Latin name of the genus and species of the plant claimed and (5) Variety denomination above. These sections should be included in future specifications.

Objection to the Disclosure

37 CFR 1.163

The following is a quotation of section (a) of 37 CFR 1.163:

(a) The specification must contain as full and complete a disclosure as possible of the plant and the characteristics thereof that distinguish the same over related known varieties, and its antecedents, and must particularly point out where and in what manner the variety of plant has been asexually reproduced. In the case of a newly found plant, the specification must particularly point out the location and character of the area where the plant was discovered.

35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

In plant applications filed under 35 U.S.C. 161, the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112 are limited.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

As specific to United States Plant Patent applications, the specifics of 37 CFR 1.164 (reproduced below) are controlling:

The claim shall be in formal terms to the new and distinct variety of the specified plant as described and illustrated, and may also recite the principal distinguishing characteristics. More than one claim is not permitted.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 162:

No plant patent shall be declared invalid for noncompliance with section 112 of this title if the description is as complete as is reasonably possible. The claim in the specification shall be in formal terms to the plant shown and described.

The disclosure is objected to under 35 CFR 1.163(a) and under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification presents less than a full, clear, and complete botanical description of the plant and the characteristics which define same per se and which distinguish the plant from related known cultivars and antecedents.

More Specifically:

A. Although Applicant has set forth the color chart employed, it appears that there is a misspelling in the name. The correct name should be “The Royal Horticultural Society Colour Chart” followed by the edition.

B. The specification states that the bloom type is “single”. However from the photographs, it would appear to be at least doubled. Applicant should verify and clarify or correct bloom type.

C. It is not clear what “+/-” denotes in describing bud size. Applicant should additionally reconsider the botanical classification of the instant plant as it appears that --Chrysanthemum morifolium -- is more appropriate than “dendranthema grandiflora”. The Latin binomial should be italicized in accordance with standard practice and not underlined as per 37 CFR 1.163(d).

D. In order to provide as complete a botanical description as is reasonably possible, Applicant should set forth the petiole length and a description of the calyx. Additionally, Applicant is requested to identify other plants in the specification by patent number or patent application number if applicable, particularly where existent blanks now occur. Any other blanks in the specification should also be filled in.

E. Where color is a distinctive feature of the plant, the color should be positively identified in the specification by reference to a designated color as given by a recognized color dictionary or color chart. As a result, calyx, rib, vein, and petiole color, should be set forth in the specification.

F. Applicant should verify that the Plant Breeder's Right EU 0961/2001 listed in the declaration is correct, as the UPOV Plant Variety Database does not have this listing.

The above listing may not be complete. Applicant should carefully review the disclosure and import into same any corrected or additional information which would aid in botanically identifying and/or distinguishing the cultivar for which United States Plant Patent protection is sought.

Claim Rejections

35 U.S.C. 112, 1st & 2nd Paragraphs

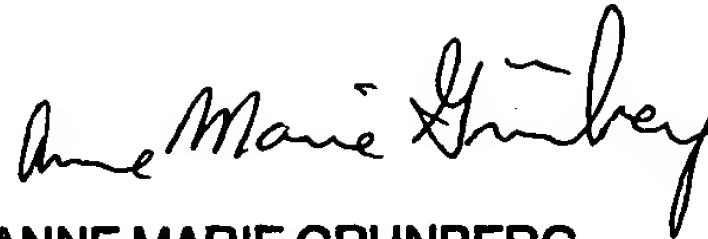

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first and second paragraphs as not being supported by a clear and complete botanical description of the plant for the reasons set forth in the Objection to the Disclosure Section above.
